

Silly School Trip by Keaton Blair

Once upon a time there was a boy called Keaton, he went on a silly school trip to Majorca to the biggest theme park you would ever lay your eyes on. There was loads of super tall rollercoasters, rides swinging in the air from side to side, the park was full of children and grown-ups, they were all so happy and having a wonderful time. The park was HUGE! We walked around the park to see what else we could find ahead of our fun packed day. As we were walking around, we could not believe it! Santa was there with his reindeers. I saw Rudolph's shiny red nose from the distance. This place is amazing! There was a swimming pool, football pitches and mansions. I loved it. I went in the swimming pool SPLISH SPLASH!! All my school friends and family members loved it too. I got heaps of presents off Santa. I got a football net, football, clothes, and trainers. I got loads of money, I got £10,000. WOW!! I bought a mansion and I let all my family and friends live in it as well. The mansion was enormous! Then we got a delicious, mouth-watering, sweet and sour Chinese. It was so nice. I was so full I could burst at the seams! It was the best silly school trip EVER! For my pudding I had pancakes and a milkshake, they were yummy.

We then went to bed and slept lots of hours after a long day. That next morning we went on the trampolines then we played football, I scored a beauty overhead kick.

Afterwards, our tummies felt super hungry, so we had a big feast of a picnic.

Suddenly, there was a terrifying thunderstorm, and then out of the blue, you wouldn't believe your eyes, it began to snow! Huge fluffy snowflakes fell from the white sky. Santa loved it, it felt like home back at the North Pole. Santa left the north pole for the first time that wasn't Christmas time.

Then I woke up, and my silly school trip was a wonderful dream... Night night ... sleep tight don't let the bugs bite!!
