Egyptian story

Seth Robinson was an explorer. Everytime he was going to explore an ancient pyramid everything went wrong. He had no idea what was going to happen this time. Seth was looking for something, but not just any something. Something that would make him a famous explorer. It was a golden kangaroo.

Seth knew this would be dangerous. He walked into the light ^{and he} noticed a small tunnel. "This might be the way to the kangaroo" Seth thought.

At the end of the tunnel, he saw something strange. It was ~~rom~~ a room ~~fo~~ with 3 tombs and ancient paintings on the walls.

He noticed there was a lever on the wall as well. He decided to use the lever and all of a sudden, the wall opened up and he saw... loads of golden artefacts! Little did he know, he had opened one of the three tombs and inside that tomb was a baby mummy.

Seth decided to rummage through the artefacts to see if he could ^{find it} but the problem was the pool of artefacts was too deep. ^Finally, he found it but he had made another mistake.

He had opened the second tomb and inside was a male adult mummy. The baby mummy and the male mummy did not look happy.

The male mummy and ^{baby} mummy decided to trick Seth for stealing their gold. Seth turned around and screamed. "Ahh!" He looked for the nearest exit hallway to run ^{down} to and found one on the right. Suddenly, the baby mummy pressed a button that made hallway turn into a death trap. What was Seth going to do now?

Lava ~~sp~~ appeared on the floor and only a few blocks of ^ground were still standing so Seth had to do parkour. He jumped and jumped and jumped, but the mummies were following him!

Seth had finished the parkour, but he had nowhere to go. All there was, ~~was~~ ^{was} a big lava ^{pit} with no bridge.

to walk across. Suddenly, a bridge formed but now all three of the mummies were chasing him! Luckily, ~~he~~ Seth jumped onto his train. You're probably thinking "Why a train". That's because Seth isn't a real explorer, and his adventure was just a theme park ride, but Seth had the time of his life.
