

Elephants

A elephant weighs 5000 kg and is 275 cm tall. There are only 414,000 elephants left in the wild but that is not very many at all.

Poachers kill elephants for their tusks because they are made of ivory.

Every year, more than 1000 the tusks are found by the police and that is very bad.

~~Please~~

Please stop cutting ~~cutting~~ down trees as it is a elephant's habitat.

National parks and Reserves
have been made to keep them safe and to help ~~them~~ them.

Teams of rangers work together to stop poachers in Africa so ~~that~~ they can live longer.

Whales

Whales are mammals

who live in the ocean.

They are 1500cm long

and weigh 10000kg.

There are only a few

thousand whales alive

today because they are hunted for their

blubber and oil.

people need to recycle
and throw rubbish in the bin.
