

Here we are...

Here we are sleeping in our beds,
Sipping hot chocolate as the hours go by.
Here we are watching day time TV,
Wondering when it will all be over.

Here we are rushing to school,
Doing homework late at night.
Here we are time flying by,
Noisy roads - day and night.

Here we are riding our ~~to~~ bikes,
Through the country park trees surrounding us.
Here we are texting our friends,
Feeling bored - we have nothing to do.

Here we busy every day,
The seconds going by - things to do.
Here we are no time to play,
Watching the clock - clubs to go to.

Here we are

Here we are relaxing in the sunny
garden,
Sipping ice cold drinks.
Here we are lounging and watching
videos,
Wondering when this will end.

Here we are in terrible traffic,
Drivers beeping angrily at other cars.
Here we are stressed about getting
to school on time,
Kids racing each other to get in class.

Here we are all playing our part
on this planet we call Earth,
It's ours to protect and appreciate
its worth.

Here we are

Here we are lounging in our bed,
Sipping cosy hot chocolate on a lazy evening.
Here we are watching movies late at night,
Spending endless hours with no worries.

Here we ~~is~~ are crammed in cars spewing
pollution into the air,
Dreaming of simpler times.
Here we are in horrendous traffic jams,
Angry drivers shouting at each other desperate to get home.

Here we are relaxing on sun beds,
Songbirds singing lovely melodies.
Here we are surrounded by beautiful nature,
Taking care of our peaceful garden.

Here we are pushing and shoving each other,
Stressed in a rush to get to school.
Here we are rushing to get homework done,
No time to play out anymore.

Here we are

Here we are reading snuggled in our warm beds,
Sipping hot cocoa at 12 pm.

Here we are dancing in the hot sun,
Surrounded by nature swimming in the cold pool.

Here we are now socialising in the crowded streets,
School is now open as the hours turn to weeks.

Here we are shopping, the trolleys wizz by,
No one thinking about the social distancing guide lines.

Here we are all playing our part on this planet we call Earth,
It's ours to protect and appreciate it's worth.

Here we are

Here we are sleeping peacefully,
Not worrying about rushing to get to School.

Here we are reading a nice, calming book,
By the fire, sat in a cosy chair.

Here we are going to bed early, rushing,
To get to school.

Here we are pushing and shoving, through
The busy, noisy streets, trying to get to
The shops.

Here we are all playing our part on this,
Planet called Earth, It's our to protect,
And appreciate it worth.

Here we are

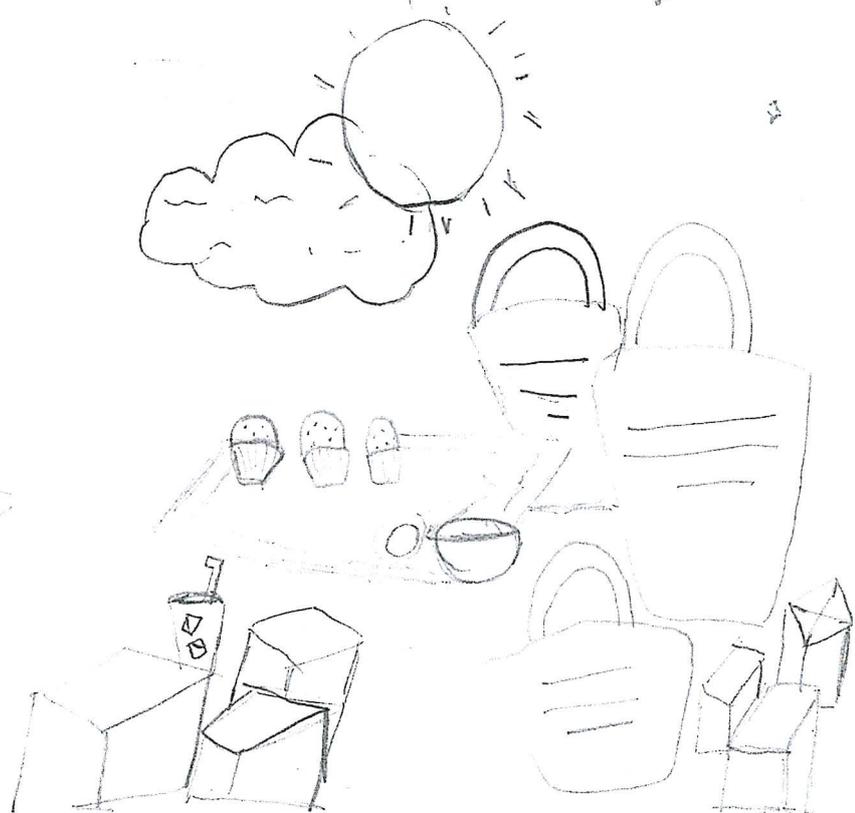

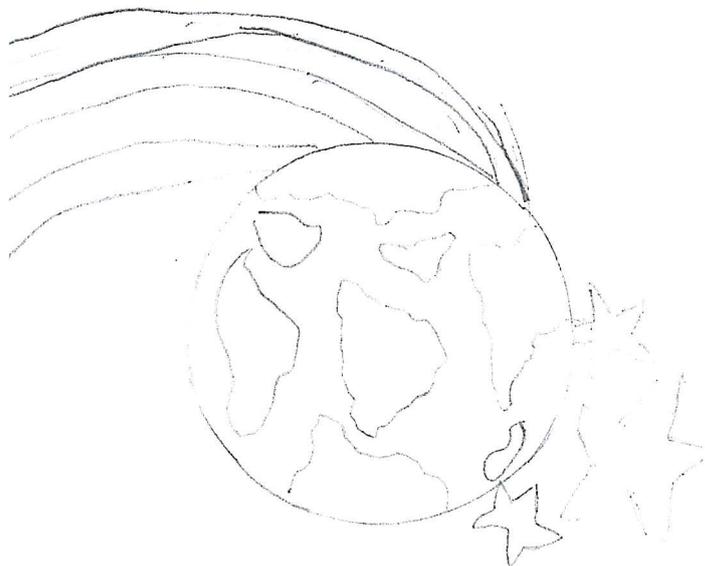

Here we are playing in the pool in the warm summer sun,
No need to do any work.

Here we are baking gooey chocolate muffins,
In the kitchen while watching the sun set.

Here we are rushing to school,
No time to stay in bed.

Here we are racing through the crowded shops
On dark, bitter nights.

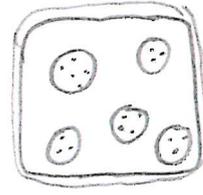

Here we are all playing our part on this planet we call Earth.
It's ours to protect and appreciate its worth.

Here we are

Here we are baking warm, gooey cookies,
In the middle of the day relaxed at home.

Here we are gardening in a peaceful garden,
In the scorching, serene sun.

Here we are pushing and shoving,
Down the crowded ^{street} at 7:30 am.

Here we are learning, at exciting but exhausting
School, no time to relax and play around.

Here we are all playing our part on this planet
Called Earth, it's ours to protect and appreciate
it's worth.
